by L. Riddick, R.M. Brissie, J.H. Embry, G.D. Cumberland, T.F. Gilchrist, J.M. Glass and C.L. Rabren (Mobile, AL)

Postmortem stability of some markers of intravital wounds 123–130
by E. Girela, C. Hernández-Cueto, J.A. Lorente and E. Villanueva (Granada, Spain)

A data collection of vehicle topcoat colours. 3. Practical considerations for using a national database 131–141 by M.C. Taylor, D.R. Cousins, R.H. Holding, J. Locke and J.M. Wilkinson (Christchurch, New Zealand; London and Reading, U.K.)

Death due to dextropropoxyphene: Copenhagen experiences 143–151
by P. Theilade (Copenhagen, Denmark)

A simple gas chromatographic identification and determination of 11 CNS stimulants in biological samples. Application on a fatality involving phendimetrazine 153–159
by P. Kintz, A. Tracqui, P. Mangin, A.A.J. Lugnier and J.A. Chaumont (Strasbourg, France)
Fatigue in multiple-car fatal accidents 161–169
by M.T. Corfitsen (Copenhagen, Denmark) Immunocytochemical diagnosis of early myocardial ischaemic/hypoxic damage 171–180
by S. Leadbetter, J.M. Wawman and B. Jasani (Cardiff, U.K.)
Preface – Injuries due to deliberate violence: a transcultural Argentinian-Danish study 181 Injuries due to deliberate violence in areas of Denmark. I. The extent of violence 183–199 by V.B. Breiting, O. Aalund, S.B. Albrektsen, L. Danielsen, K. Helweg-Larsen, J. Jacobsen, H. Kjaerulff, H. Staugaard and J.L. Thomsen (Copenhagen, Denmark)
Diary of Future Events 201–202
Myxoid heart disease: A review with special emphasis on sudden cardiac death 203–210
by E. Hunt Scheurman (Fort Myers, FL)
The development of an enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay for 19-OH PG $F_1\alpha/F_2\alpha$ 211–216
by S.J. King, R.W. Kelly and J.G. Sutton (Reading and Edinburgh, U.K.)
A survey of the concentration of 19-OH $F_1\alpha/F_2\alpha$ prostaglandins in the semen of fertile, infertile and vasectomized men and their stability in both liquid and semen stains 217–220
by S.J. King and J.G. Sutton (Reading, U.K.)
Radioimmunoassay detection limits for 19-OH $F_1\alpha/F_2\alpha$ prostaglandin in normal, infertile and vasectomized semen stains. Analysis of saliva, sweat and urine for possible non-specific or matrix effects 221–229
by S.J. King, J.G. Sutton and L.A. Trewsdale (Reading, U.K.)
References for determining the time of death by potassium in vitreous humor 231–243
by B. Medea, C. Henssge, W. Hönig and A. Gerbracht (Köln, F.R.G.)
Efficacy of entomological method in estimation of postmortem interval: a comparative analysis 245–250
by V.K. Kashyap and V.V. Pillay (Hyderabad and Devangere, India) Assurance of the quality of expert reports 251–259
by L. Leisztner (Budapest, Hungary)
Direct carboxyhemoglobin determination by derivative spectroscopy 261–266
by M. López-Rivadulla, A.M. Bermejo, P. Fernández, A. Cruz and L. Concheiro (Santiago de Compostela, Spain)
Transfer experiments with acrylic fibres 267–277
by M.C. Grieve, J. Dunlop and P.S. Haddock (Frankfurt/Main, F.R.G. and London, U.K.)
Determination of length of human long bones of hands from their fragments 279–284 by K.V.S. Rao, G.D. Gupta and V.N. Sehgal (New Delhi, India)
Evaluation of eosin-fluorescence in the diagnosis of sudden cardiac death 285–290
by P. Saukko and B. Knight (Oulu, Finland and Cardiff, U.K.)
Injuries due to deliberate violence in areas of Denmark. II. Victims of homicide in the Copenhagen area 291–297 by J.L. Thomsen, S.B. Albrektsen, O. Aalund, V.B. Breiting, L. Danielsen, K. Helweg-Larsen, J. Jacobsen, H. Kjaerulff and H. Staugaard (Copenhagen, Denmark)
